

FINAL CHECKS:

A QUICK CHECKING-IN TO MAKE SURE ALL IS ON COURSE

WHAT THIS HANDOUT IS ABOUT

By now, most of your planning and preparation for your ceremony should be well underway. But there's always a chance to change and tweak things, if not sometimes having to when earlier "best-laid" plans go astray. This handout suggests a few final checks to make in the final countdown to your wedding day.

This is the last of the handouts and supporting video in this series. I hope that you've found some of what we've covered of use. May your precious day be everything you want it to be, and all blessings to you as you start a happy and hopefully long life together!

Activity	When due / planned	Who will be responsible to ensure this is done (*=note others who may need to be involved)	Status (one of: complete, in progress, scheduled, overdue)
Are all activities in your plan (video #8) on course to happen, in progress as expected or complete? Are any tweaks or changes needed?
Are all participants who will be involved in the ceremony still on board, prepared, and know what to do on the day?
Has the ceremony script been printed? Do all who need copies have them?
Check contingency arrangements
Have any props, music CDs, etc. been arranged?
Check venue arrangements with the venue contact
Has a final run-through / rehearsal been planned / happened (to check "stage management" needs such as where to stand, entrance, etc)? Will there be an option for a quick 'stage walk' (to see and feel the area) at the venue on the day?
